Government Grants Service

Each year, billions of government grant dollars are allocated to eligible nonprofits, municipalities, school districts, and for-profit entities across the country. In 2022, a tremendous amount of dollars are available through COVID relief, equitable education and healthcare access, workforce development, infrastructure improvement, and other government funding opportunities to systematically improve outcomes for those in need.

The number of organizations seeking grants through federal, state, and local sources is also on the rise. So it's important to ask: How can our organization be competitive for these grant awards and successfully manage the funds we receive?

This is where RBW Strategy can help.

Application Development and Review

It is difficult to apply for government grants with limited internal resources. Learning the application process can also feel overwhelming, especially in a short timeframe.

Our team has the experience and flexibility to support your organization throughout the local, state, or federal grant proposal process – from concept and strategy development, to project management and application writing, to compliance reviews and submission itself.

Post-Award Management

Congratulations! Your organization has received a government grant award (or is a subgrantee or subawardee). Now what?

Whether you are new to government grants, or have new funding coming in, RBW Strategy can help you build out post-award grants management policies and procedures through training and consulting support to

- (1) ensure all grants administration rules and regulations are met,
- (2) lead with transparency and ethics, and
- (3) safeguard your organization from future risks.
